Visitor Economy and Sustainable Communities

Tourism sector is an ecosystem - the success of our individual business is intrinsically linked to the success of our local communities.

Good regional marketing & promotion can only do so much – we need thriving local towns, cultural offers and experiences, local events and festivals and retail and hospitality businesses to build our region to be a resilient, competitive and compelling region to live, work and visit.

Our Mid Wales visitors come to get away from the hustle & bustle of their day to day lives, experience our local towns, culture and heritage, our small independent artisan producers, crafts, galleries, museums – they don't travel to Mid Wales just to stay in a hotel, holiday park or cottage.

Supporting Sustainable Communities

At our last conference we explored how individual businesses, communities and organisations can pull together and rebuild our sector as we move forward to 2022 and beyond.

A number of towns have already shown interest in working with us, and today we are in a position to share with you for the first time what we have planned, and for you to meet our new project team.

Web 3 Technology opens up possibilities for local communities and independent businesses to come together to develop something really special that will help drive footfall back into our market towns

MWT is leading on an exciting new project – funded by the UK Shared Prosperity Fund – which will allow us to work with local towns in Powys and to pilot and roll out a very new technology and make it available to businesses, towns and communities based on Web 3.

Web3.0 Ownership

Web2 relies on social media sites to store, distribute, and benefit from content.

Web3, however, allows businesses and people to utilise tokens to build connected communities and to incentivise community participation.

Web3.0 Collaboration

Web3 and tokenisation allows organisations, group and communities of any size to collaborate and become directly connected not reliant on big tech platforms.

Each Web 3 project belongs in equal measure to the people involved and not on single entity.

Web3.0 Opportunity

Web 3 works like Lego blocks, where every part can be interconnected and reused.

This paves the way for leveraging existing projects to unlock something new, making it easy to generate innovative new projects with real value.

What does this mean for the tourism industry?

Web3 & Tourism

- Redefine Loyalty Programs
- Provide Unique Travel Experiences
- Create active engagement

So what do we provide?

A platform for communities and businesses to quickly and easily create Web 3 token projects which help them connect, grow and generate new revenue streams and future proof their digital engagement.

What does Buzzmint deliver?

- A fast and easy to set up brand area
- Simple single, multiple or utility digital asset creation

- Full analytics on activity
- Ability to market Projects
